DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. Applicant is reminded of the proper content of an abstract of the disclosure.

A patent abstract is a concise statement of the technical disclosure of the patent and should include that which is new in the art to which the invention pertains. If the patent is of a basic nature, the entire technical disclosure may be new in the art, and the abstract should be directed to the entire disclosure. If the patent is in the nature of an improvement in an old apparatus, process, product, or composition, the abstract should include the technical disclosure of the improvement. In certain patents, particularly those for compounds and compositions, wherein the process for making and/or the use thereof are not obvious, the abstract should set forth a process for making and/or use thereof. If the new technical disclosure involves modifications or alternatives, the abstract should mention by way of example the preferred modification or alternative.

The abstract should not refer to purported merits or speculative applications of the invention and should not compare the invention with the prior art.

Where applicable, the abstract should include the following:

- (1) if a machine or apparatus, its organization and operation;
- (2) if an article, its method of making;
- (3) if a chemical compound, its identity and use;
- (4) if a mixture, its ingredients;
- (5) if a process, the steps.

Extensive mechanical and design details of apparatus should not be given.

2. The lengthy specification has not been checked to the extent necessary to determine the presence of all possible minor errors. Applicant's cooperation is requested in correcting any errors of which applicant may become aware in the specification.

3. The title of the invention is not descriptive. A new title is required that is clearly indicative of the invention to which the claims are directed.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

6. Claims 101-103 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Weber et al., (Weber), USPAT 5,686,979.

7. Weber discloses an electro-optical glazing structure having reflection and transmission modes of operation for selectively reflecting and transmitting electromagnetic radiation, respectively, wherein the optical panel comprising an electro-optical panel of laminated construction, having first and second optical states of operation and optical state switching means for switching the electro-optical panel to the first optical state of operation in order to induce the electro-optical structure into the reflection mode and for switching the electro-optical panel to the second optical state of operation in order to induce the electro-optical structure into the transmission modes of operation (Fig. 1, col. 3, lines 30-44; col. 4, lines 1-15; col. 16, lines 40-50)

It is common and known in the art that a pair of eyeglasses comprise a frame. Further as to using the frame for supporting a pair electro-optical glazing panels, each of the panels coupled by the optical state switching means is considered as intended use and thus would have been obvious to obtain an intelligent pair of eyeglasses.

Also, using the electro-optical glazing structure in a 3-D viewing device in the form of eyeglasses for a user is considered as intended use and thus would have been obvious to obtain a stereoscopic device.

Accordingly, claims 101-103 would have been obvious.

Double Patenting

8. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

9. Claims 101-103 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1, 23 and 26 of U.S. Patent No. 5,940,150. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the instant claims are anticipated by the patented claims.

10. Claims 101-103 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claim 1 of U.S. Patent No. 6,710,823.

Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because it is common and known in the art that a pair of eyeglasses comprise a frame. Further as to using the frame for supporting a pair electro-optical glazing panels, each of the panels coupled by the optical state switching means is considered as intended use and thus would have been obvious to obtain an intelligent pair of eyeglasses. Also, using the electro-optical glazing structure in a 3-D viewing device in the form of eyeglasses for a user is considered as intended use and thus would have been obvious to obtain a stereoscopic device.

11. Claims 101-103 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claim 1 of U.S. Patent No. 6,072,549.

Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because It is common and known in the art that a pair of eyeglasses comprise a frame. Further as to using the frame for supporting a pair electro-optical glazing panels, each of the panels coupled by the optical state switching means is considered as intended use and thus would have been obvious to obtain an intelligent pair of eyeglasses. Also, using the electro-optical glazing structure in a 3-D viewing device in the form of eyeglasses for a user is considered as intended use and thus would have been obvious to obtain a stereoscopic device.
